

Rest in peace, young mother
Rest in peace, good friend
Rest in peace, daughter and sister
Who's life too short did end

Your life was lost too tragically
In a flash, you were gone
Never to be seen again
And yet, life goes on

It goes on without your smile
Your laugh, your touch, your voice
And yet all of these things live on
In precious memories we rejoice

Thankful for the angel you have become
Watching over those you love
As it is all you have left to give
From the heavens high above

So comfort us while we grieve
And give us strength to go on
Help us find peace to sleep at night
And wake with each rising dawn

Wrap your angel wings around us
When we need to cry our tears
And stay right there with us
Giving us courage to face our fears

The fears we're feeling now
And all the pain, too
Will, with time and love, subside
As we live to honor you

And we shall live until we're called
Into heaven's light and love
Where we will meet and embrace again
In God's paradise up above

Until the time comes
When my life on earth will cease
I will love you and honor your memory
While you rest in peace
